Dear Churches, Supporters, Alumni, Family and Friends,

We never cease to be amazed at how the steps of the righteous are ordained by God.

“The outer rain bands of Hurricane Raymond, which was hitting the western coast of Mexico, affected our Homecoming Celebration. On Saturday, we scheduled the Homecoming Team to go out to minister with the Guardians of the Vision children. However, it was raining cats and dogs around the lake, so we headed to El Congo only to find it raining there, too. We continued on to Santa Ana only to find more rain. In an effort to outrun the rain, we decided to give it one last try in the city of Chalchuapa because the Last Harvest Master’s Commission leader was from there, and we thought maybe we could find a good spot to do an outreach. When we arrived, it was starting to sprinkle, and there were no children outside due to the weather. Priscilla told us that we should go by her church to see if anyone there had any ideas. To our surprise, they were holding a children’s rally with about 150 children to celebrate the Day of the Child in El Salvador. They asked us to do the entire program because they had food and gifts for the children, but no program. We were the answer to their prayers, and they were the answer to our prayers of finding a place for the Guardians of the Vision to show the Homecoming Team what they could do.”

As we drove back to the camp we praised God for using us in spite of the rains. Then on Monday we went to do an outreach with the Last Harvest Master's Commission in Quetzaltepeque.

“As we pulled into a gang controlled community called San Jose, we went door to door, inviting the children to the soccer field where we were going to do the outreach. We started the program with about as many adults as children, and suddenly, it began to rain really hard. We ran for shelter, and to our surprise two neighbors opened their home up to us. All the adults entered one home, and all the children entered another home. We had a prayer meeting with all the adults, and everyone came forward with various requests. One gentleman asked for prayer for all the children of the community so that they would follow Jesus and not enter the gangs. While the prayer meeting was going on with the adults, the children were in their own prayer meeting where 16 accepted Jesus as their personal Savior. We marveled at how powerful the meetings were

16 children accepted Jesus because of the rain; thank you, Jesus, for your Divine Appointment

The steps of a righteous man are ordered by God. We marvel at the Divine Appointments that God has already planned.
